A Message from our Executive Director

Our Founder, Dr. Charlie Garfield, often says that the motivation to start Shanti was incredibly simple. As the first mental health professional at UCSF’s Cancer Research Institute, Charlie knew that no one should have to face a life-threatening illness alone. What I’ve found illuminating in recent years is how the scientific and medical communities have validated the importance of alleviating isolation. Just as smoking, lack of exercise, and obesity have been posited as tangible risk factors, so has isolation. For the past 40 years, Shanti’s programs have helped reduce this by providing care navigation, empathy, and compassion to people living with life-threatening illnesses. As a result, clients improved their health outcomes while receiving sorely needed emotional and practical support.

This is a very important idea for us to embrace as Shanti marks our 40th Anniversary. I’ve been encouraged this year by the increased interest expressed from hospitals in Shanti’s services—specifically, how we can play a greater role in helping their patients after they leave the hospital, so they can stay well and not have to return. As our entire nation evolves with the Affordable Care Act, Shanti will also evolve to offer our services to a greater number of people who need us.

To learn more about the opportunities ahead of us, I hope to see you at our 40th Anniversary Dinner in October. I’m particularly excited that we will be presenting our Nancy Pelosi Lifetime Achievement Award to two personal heroes of mine who are so beloved around the world, Reverend Cecil Williams and Janice Mirikitani of GLIDE. For our milestone anniversary, I can’t think of anyone more appropriate to recognize for the manner in which they embody Shanti’s founding values of embracing our common humanity and living with a spirit of compassion and generosity.

I hope you will join us as we celebrate Cecil and Jan, Shanti, our community, and most importantly, the values that make San Francisco such an incredibly caring and special place.

volunteer services highlights

We kicked off the 2014 summer season with enthusiasm, as the talented drag performer and Filmmaker, Peaches Christ, led over 130 Shanti supporters down Market Street during the San Francisco Pride Parade on Sunday, June 29th.

To pay tribute to our volunteers, and the Shanti legacy, we are hosting a Volunteer Reunion the evening of December 1st at the National AIDS Memorial Grove. The special evening will consist of sharing stories of caregiving and serve as a forum for reconnecting with the greater Shanti community. To learn more, visit www.shantialumni.org/.

On July 20th, we convened in Golden Gate Park for the SF AIDS Walk. Team Shanti--comprised of staff, board members, volunteers, and general supporters--raised over $12,500 to support our HIV/AIDS programming. Our team joined thousands of walkers from all over the Bay Area to show their determination and solidarity in the ongoing fight against HIV/AIDS.

During weekend of August 15-17, we conducted the third Peer Support Volunteer Training of the year. Our training team, comprised of staff and experienced Peer Support Volunteers, collectively trained 23 incredible individuals in the Shanti Model of Peer Support. The newly trained volunteers will be matched one-on-one with a Shanti client and provide weekly compassionate support to them. The final volunteer training of 2014 will be held the weekend of November 14-16 and the evening of November 19. To inquire about volunteering, please contact Volunteer Services at volunteerservices@shanti.org.

Since 1974, Shanti has trained over 18,000 volunteers in the Bay Area in the Shanti Model of Peer Support, and those trained volunteers have in turn provided millions of hours of practical and emotional support to individuals living with a life-threatening illness.

Shanti's amazing team of volunteers and staff at the 2014 AIDS Walk San Francisco. Shanti raised $12,500.

Leave a Legacy

Shanti launched our Legacy Society in Spring of 2013 in honor of our upcoming 40th Anniversary. The Legacy Society recognizes those who have made a commitment to the long-term future of Shanti by naming Shanti as a beneficiary of their estate. By becoming a member of the Legacy Society, you are investing in the future of the agency and contributing to Shanti's celebrated legacy in San Francisco.

If you have any questions regarding legacy giving opportunities, or wish to get a free copy of our Legacy Society brochure, please contact Thom Lynch at 415.674.4739 or tlynch@shanti.org, or visit our Legacy Society page on our website under "Ways to Donate." community, and public officials. Tickets to the event, which will include a cocktail reception, silent and live auctions, dinner, a special performance and awards program, are available for purchase on our website: www.shanti.org/pages/compassion-is-universal.html.

We hope to build on the success of last year’s event, which raised nearly $300,000 to support the health and wellness of individuals diagnosed with breast cancer or HIV/AIDS in San Francisco. For the 2,000 clients we serve each year, Shanti represents the difference between zero and one – the difference between a client having to face a life-threatening illness alone or having at least one caring presence at his or her side. For more information please contact Shannon Bourne at (415) 674-4713 or sbourne@shanti.org.

Shanti’s Margot Murphy Breast Cancer Program to Expand Services to Gynecological Cancers

Beginning in August 2014, the program will pilot an expansion of its services to support high needs gynecological cancer patients. The pilot is in response to a need identified by our primary referral partners, San Francisco General Hospital (SFGH) and University of California San Francisco Mount Zion Hospital (UCSF Mount Zion). At UCSF Mount Zion, over 200 patients with gynecological cancers are supported and approximately 40 additional women are diagnosed with gynecological cancers at SFGH each year. Although there are a number of support services available to women with breast cancer, there are very few community-based services helping women with gynecological cancers. This is particularly troubling considering that several gynecological cancers have very low survival rates; they are often diagnosed in a later stage because they rarely exhibit early symptoms and do not have recommended screening tests. For example, the estimated 5-year survival rate for women with ovarian cancer is only 44% (SEER cancer statistics review, National Cancer Institute 2009). Shanti is grateful to our keystone supporters for this pilot which current donation will be matched.

“We are very honored and grateful for this generous gift,” said Executive Director, Kaushik Roy. “Jim and Michael are two of Shanti’s most generous and compassionate friends, and this is a great way to enhance our base of supporters as we celebrate 40 years of service.”

We are pleased to report that we are more than halfway to our goal of $100,000. If you have not already donated in 2014, please take this time to donate and double the impact of your gift.

include the Love From Margot Foundation and a one-year pilot contract with the SF Department of Public Health, endorsed by the Board of Supervisors this summer.

In follow-up to the program’s 18-month pilot research project, “Engaging Low-Income Women in Health Research,” which addressed the educational and systemic voids that impede the majority of our clients from accessing cutting-edge medical research and technology, Shanti Directors Alyssa Nickell and Maria Caprio co-authored a paper summarizing the pilot’s findings with our UCSF partners entitled, “Educating Low-SES and LEP Survivors About Breast Cancer Research: Pilot Test of the Health Research Engagement Intervention,” published in the Journal of Cancer Education this past March. In April 2014, Shanti and our UCSF partners were awarded a prestigious three-year, $600,000 California Breast Cancer Research Program grant to expand on their collaborative research. Work on this research grant will begin later this Fall.

Gilead Sciences has provided grants to Shanti since 1999 with a combined total of over $250,000 in funding for our services for people living with HIV. According to Amy Flood, Vice President of Public Affairs, “Gilead supports a broad range of organizations, such as Shanti, that improve the health and well-being of communities affected by the diseases we are working to address. The programs we support play an essential role in ensuring that people affected by disease receive the support they need to live healthy, productive lives.”

“Our primary concern is to effectively address patients’ needs,” says Flood. “We strive to innovate on all fronts to achieve this goal, including community grants and partnerships to improve disease prevention, care, and access programs to ensure that patients can benefit from our therapies regardless of their ability to pay for healthcare.”

Shanti appreciates the innovation being led by Gilead because of the positive impact it can have on clients. For instance, we are exploring the feasibility of an expansion of Shanti’s HIV Services Program for clients who live with HIV and Hepatitis C Virus (HCV). Previously, many clients struggled with severe side effects from treatments related to HCV. New medicines that are becoming available from Gilead reportedly have fewer side effects. “We have conducted studies and are conducting additional clinical trials to provide more insight into the safety and efficacy of Sovaldi in individuals who are also taking antiretroviral therapy for HIV. We are also studying an investigational fixed-dose combination of Sovaldi and another drug, ledipasvir, for the treatment of HCV among co-infected individuals. Our FOCUS program, which partners with local health departments, hospitals and community organizations across the country to strengthen HIV screening and linkage to care, has been expanded to incorporate HCV screening, which will help ensure that that co-infected individuals receive appropriate care and treatment,” continued Flood.

As Shanti celebrates our 40th Anniversary, we are grateful of funders’ commitments to our programs. In the case of Gilead, Shanti receives funding for both our L.I.F.E. Program and HIV Services Program. Flood shared that this funding is important to their strategic vision of grant making. “We recognize that creating new and better medicines is just one part of the solution – in order to have a lasting impact on patients, we need to partner with and support organizations that can help provide the many other services that patients need. We are very proud to support Shanti and other organizations like yours.”

Flood added, “Your readers probably know what a great organization Shanti is, and how critical it has been for so many people living with HIV and other diseases over the past four decades. I hope that they’ll continue to support and learn from the important work that you are doing.”
